Unveil Cleansing Foam, Timeless Secret

This one took me by surprise. Usually when a cleanser is called "foaming" it's because it either foams the instant you dispense it in your hand, or it foams the second you add water to it. This one has just the slightest delay, so when I first applied it to my face nothing happened. A few seconds later, I felt a tingling sensation and realized the foaming action was kicking in. That was fun! Plus it enabled me to get a deep cleansing without drying my skin.
